COLLEGE SCHOLAR PROGRAM

The Robert S. Harrison College Scholar Program represents the pinnacle of the liberal arts experience at Cornell and is available only to A&S students. The program is focused on a small group of stellar students whose interests transcend disciplinary boundaries. Come learn about how students design their own interdisciplinary major, organized around a question or issue of interest, and pursue a course of study that cannot be found in an established major.

Tuesday, October 1st, 7:30-8:30 pm, KG42 Klarman Hall

CORNELL CAREER SERVICES

Understanding Impostor Syndrome - Ever felt like your peers have things figured out but your own achievements are due to luck? Maybe you have perfectionist habits or self-doubts. This virtual workshop clarifies what the impostor phenomenon is and isn't, and shares research on how it affects college students. Then we focus on understanding unintended consequences of impostor phenomenon that may affect your career and health. Come to this workshop if want evidence-based skills so you can recognize and overcome feelings of self-doubt. Presented by Cornell Career Services, Dr. Jessamyn Perlus.

To request accommodations or for inquiries about accessibility contact Jessamyn Perlus, jgp66@cornell.edu, 607-255-3559. We ask that requests be made at least 3 days in advance to help ensure they can be met.

Monday, September 30th, 4:30-5:30 pm, virtual

HUMANITIES SCHOLARS PROGRAM

The Humanities Scholars Program fosters independent, interdisciplinary undergraduate research in the humanities, and provides a supportive community for 60 students through a series of curated courses, structured mentorship, special programming, and research opportunities and funding. Light refreshments will be provided.

Monday, September 30th, 4:30 – 5:30 p.m. at the A.D. White House (Rm 110)

CORNELL UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES

With over 16 specialized libraries across campus, Cornell University Library is an essential part of the campus experience and vital to academic success. These open houses are an opportunity to learn more about the library system. There will be library staff there to answer all your questions, lead tours, and help with any research-related issues. We will also have button making, snacks, and more.
